- Board of Directors (3-year terms): Stephanie Ertman and Brian Lundin
- Supervisory Committee seat (3-year terms): Moe Awadallah

Stephanie Ertman

Stephanie has been a volunteer with South Bay Credit Union since 2020. A lifelong South Bay resident, she grew up in Rancho Palos Verdes and now raises her children in the Beach Cities.

Stephanie holds a B.S. in Business Administration from the University of Colorado and an M.B.A. from the University of Southern California. She brings experience in consulting and strategic planning to SBCU, along with a deep commitment to community involvement through volunteering at her children's schools, coaching youth soccer, and serving as a Girl Scout leader.

As a mother of two girls, she is passionate about social and emotional health and development and supporting initiatives that help children and adolescents build strong leadership skills. She values SBCU's dedication to providing financial tools and education to underserved communities and hopes to see the credit union continue expanding its footprint to support even more members on their path to financial freedom.

Brian Lundin

Brian Lundin has been a longtime South Bay resident and has lived in the greater Los Angeles area since graduating from USC Gould School of Law in 2009. He currently works as a corporate attorney and cares deeply about using banking and payments to make a positive impact in the community.

Outside of work, Brian is a busy husband and father who enjoys training for and running marathons around the world. He also serves as a Judge Pro Tem with the Los Angeles County Superior Court in Torrance, plays the violin, and speaks Russian fluently.

Brian first got involved with South Bay Credit Union in 2021 after having a great experience as a member. That experience inspired him to volunteer with the Board of Directors in 2022 as a non-voting associate board member. In that role, he has reviewed Board materials, attended meetings, and shared input during discussions, often bringing his legal perspective to help support the credit union.

Brian values the credit union as a trusted place for members to save and borrow at fair rates, and as an organization that provides financial education and meaningful community outreach. He looks forward to continuing to give his time and energy to SBCU and to contributing to its ongoing success in the South Bay.
